As I am writing this column, Thanksgiving was yesterday and I am still filled with feelings of all that I am thankful for and that includes all of you! We are so thankful to all of our friends, families and customers who refer our real estate services. Without you, we wouldn’t be able to achieve. However, we aren’t a numbers based real estate team, but rather we like to consider ourselves relationship based. One home, one family at a time. In fact, I try hard NOT to track the number of transactions during the year. I know a lot o people think this could be counter productive to goals, etc., but I don’t think so. See, our goals are different. To help each family in every way we can and provide a wonderful real estate experience. Our goals are relationship based, so no need to track numbers. If we are doing a good job, they will happen (and they do and have this year). So, THANK YOU again for all you do to help in our success!

We’ve had a fun year so far and recently were featured in the “Faces of Frisco” publication by Frisco Style. See our new photo below.

I also have another thing to be thankful for. Rick and I became grandparents in October to Noah. Our little nugget (see photo below) was born on October 4th. Mom, Dad and Noah are all doing great and he’s growing! Here’s his newborn picture below.

We’re looking forward to sharing many more pictures of Noah in the future.

I was also recently given a tour of the National Breast Cancer Foundation in Frisco.

This is a group that advocates and fundraises to provide help to women going through breast cancer now. Their story is very moving and I hope to be able to do even more going forward. Cancer took two special women in my life, my Aunt Loretta and my high school best friend, Jill Jorgenson Olinger.

My sister Janet and I also recently walked in the Susan Komen, event. We wore special pink flamingo t-shirts in Jill’s honor. See our T-shirts below.

Hope your Thanksgiving was wonderful and wishing you blessings this holiday season!
