The Judi Wright Team

It’s still 2020 and guess what? COVID is still here. It’s been a very weird year for sure and it isn’t over yet. We’ve been doing some social distancing, but we’ve also done some traveling. In September, we went on our family trip and rented a house and basically stayed there. Between the lake, pool and media room, we didn't have to go anywhere! We had groceries delivered ahead of time and brought other stuff with us. It was a great trip for our family. The photo above is from our Hawaiian night. And since Rick and I cancelled our

France/Italy trip (for the 2nd time), we decided to explore parts of the U.S. during October. We went to Mt. Rushmore, Crazy Horse, Deadwood, Sturgis, Cody and Custer, Yellowstone, The Grand Tetons, Jackson Hole and Denver. We also played golf twice along the way

It was a fun trip exploring the U.S, and is probably my favorite trip I have taken in a long time!

Then we got back home and back to work (at least for Judi). The real estate market has been crazy hot with low inventory and even lower interest rates driving demand for homes.

Buyers have experienced bidding wars and Sellers have been in multiple offer situations.

Yesterday was Halloween and we were lucky enough to get to see our littlest Pumpkin, our Grandson Noah.

Noah got his picture taken in front of Stonebriar since he didn’t make it to the Arboretum for their pumpkin patch this year. He just turned 1 and is walking now.

I hope you and your family have stayed healthy during this time and found a way to safely gather and still make memories. It’s been a weird year and now the election is next week so it could get even crazier.

Please take the time to vote for the candidate of your choice. It is your greatest constitutional right as an American!
